Did You Know?

The Commission for Children with Special Health Care Needs partners with clinics for care coordination to ensure that children in foster care and children with special health care diagnoses, receive the services they need. Medical professionals provide immunizations and well child/sick visits and provide a variety of specialized services. Clinic staff also may assist with unique needs of children in foster care such as health screenings and medical passports.

• Open Arms Children's Health in Louisville is a one stop shop for children ages birth to 18 and provides medical, dental, hearing, vision, outpatient occupational therapy, outpatient speech therapy and pharmacy: serving the child in one place. They are open Monday-Friday, with some evening and weekend appointments. For appointments, call (502)596-1040.

• Thomas Pinkstaff Medical Home Clinic in Lexington provides well child/sick visits, immunizations, dietitian evaluations, assistance with community resources and services and referrals for treatment and therapy. For appointments, call (859)252-3270.